

I think it would be helpful if unsolicited telemarketers were forced to show the number that they call from to be shown on caller ID. I have had many calls from telemarketers that hung up on me when I told them to put me on their do not call list. When I tell them to put me on their list they always keep talking. It's only after I tell these telemarketers that they have to put me on their list, they simply hang up. I always tell them to put me on their do not call list and they won't let me talk to their supervisor or where they are calling from. If I had their phone number I could report violations easier, because there would be a way to trace the call. I think this would be beneficial to regular people like me who do not want Unsolicited phone calls. Also, violators of the new National do not call list would be easily identified, making your job easier as well.
